

VOLUME 27, 1997

LIST OF CONTENTS

Number 1

- | | | |
|---|----|--|
| C.-F. Chi and M.-L. Wu | 1 | Fatal occupational injuries in Taiwan – Relationship between fatality rate and age |
| D. McVittie, H. Banikin and W. Brocklebank | 19 | The effects of firm size on injury frequency in construction |
| B. Kirwan | 25 | Validation of human reliability assessment techniques: Part 1 – Validation issues |
| B. Kirwan | 43 | Validation of human reliability assessment techniques: Part 2 – Validation results |

Technical Note

- | | | |
|--------------------|----|--|
| J. Culvenor | 77 | Driving the science of prevention into reverse |
|--------------------|----|--|

I Translations Available

Numbers 2/3

- | | | |
|--|-----|---|
| P. Swuste, D. van Drimmelen and A. Burdorf | 85 | Application of design analysis to solution generation: Hand-arm vibrations in foundation pile head removal in the construction industry |
| U. Kjellén, K. Boe and H.L. Hagen | 99 | Economic effects of implementing internal control of health, safety and environment: A retrospective case study of an aluminium plant |
| C.W. Fuller and R.D. Hawkins | 115 | Assessment of football grounds for player safety |
| L. Laflamme | 129 | Overexertion-injury types among female Swedish nurses and nursing auxiliaries: An age-related problem? |
| J.A. Engels, J.W.J. van der Gulden and Th.F. Senden | 141 | Prevention of musculoskeletal complaints in nursing: Aims, approach and content of an ergonomic-educational programme |
| N.A. Stanton, M. Young and B. McCaulder | 149 | Drive-by-wire: the case of driver workload and reclaiming control with adaptive cruise control |
| B. Fabiano, D. Bertocchi and R. Pastorino | 161 | A methodological approach to internal antifire crew optimization. An oil refinery case history |
| J. Rasmussen | 183 | Risk management in a dynamic society: a modelling problem |

Letters to the Editor

T.J. Larsson

215 On beartraps and Australian drunk drivers: a response to Culvenor

J. Culvenor

219 Reply to Larsson

Book Review

A.R. Hale

223 Against the Gods: The remarkable story of risk by P.L. Bernstein

Volume contents and author index

